Re: END OF COLD SEASON

Dear Parents,

Although we are currently experiencing mild weather, spring is not necessarily upon us. It is quite possible that we may still get snow and cold weather over the next few weeks. Consequently, it is essential that parents monitor weather forecast on a daily basis during this time of the year. Students should be sent to school with appropriate clothing based on the weather conditions.

In the event that there is a snowfall, please note that it is not possible for the school to be calling parents individually to bring their child's boots or snow pants. Furthermore, it is not feasible for the school to keep inside students who did not come to school with appropriate clothing for the weather conditions. Therefore, we highly recommend that students keep their boots and snow pants at school over the course of the next few weeks in case they are needed.

Please note that our school yards are currently free of snow and that students are not required for the moment to wear their boots nor snow pants to go outside.

Thank you for your collaboration on this matter.

Kind Regards,

East Hill Administration
