Television cameras focus on the EMSB

The English Montreal School Board wishes to salute Montreal's four English language television stations for the excellent job they do covering the education beat and being present at school events.

Top right: Students and staff from EMSB high schools spent some time at CTV studios to film new commercials which will air in September. This group from LaurenHill Academy and Westmount High School, headed by Principal Claude Dansereau and guidance counsellor Karen Allen, got to meet CTV anchor Mutsumi Takahashi.

Bottom left: Jessica Laventure, the dynamic member of the Global Morning News team, not only reported live from the 2013 EMSB Career Fair. She actually stuck around and gave interviewing tips to students, like this young lady who got to ask Jessica some questions.

Bottom right: CBC reporter Kristin Falcao interviewed this young student from Coronation Elementary School in Côte des Neiges at a press conference to announce the presentation of the Love of Reading grant. Coronation was one of 20 schools across Canada, and the only one in Quebec, to be awarded a cheque for $60,000 to buy new books.

CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGE

Bold step towards energy efficiency

ANGELA MANCINI

Last spring the EMSB accepted a proposal from energy efficiency experts Énergère to begin a feasibility study that would lay the foundation for a proposed bolstering of the energy efficiency of 17 schools and centres. It is expected to go to the Council of Commissioners for final approval at the end of September. Work will then be scheduled to commence next summer and completed by December 2016

This project consists, among other measures, of modernizing equipment using aerothermal technology, and adding more control points to enhance the comfort of staff and students. Once the project is complete, the 17 buildings will realize a 50 percent reduction in energy consumption and a 72 percent reduction in Green House Gas emissions. Lighting in halls, stairways, and classrooms will be converted from fluorescent to leading technology LED which will save energy, last longer, and simplify maintenance and care while maintaining or enhancing lighting levels. Savings are projected to amount to more that $1 million per year once all measures are installed.

The EMSB received proposals from three firms for such a project. Selecting a firm represents a rigorous process and we followed it very precisely. The proposal we retained met and surpassed the goals we set. When completed and paid, it will provide us with important savings adding up to an increase and improvements in services to students across the Board.

As our Director of Material Resources Daniel Hogue emphasizes: "The project provides us with leading-edge energy technology, more control points that will ensure greater comfort for students and staff while offering the EMSB greater control over maintenance and associated operational costs."

The project will put us in line or ahead of the targets for energy efficiency set by the government and we will be leaders in terms of environmental awareness and concrete actions that show our level of commitment. When it is fully implemented at least 11 of the 17 schools will qualify to be certified carbon-neutral. That is something of which our entire Board can be rightly proud. ▪

Willingdon remercie les pompiers

L'école primaire Willingdon de NDG a recueilli 2,803 $ en l'espace d'une semaine pour appuyer 30 pompiers du Service d'incendies de Montréal qui participent à un voyage humanitaire en Haïti. Les pompiers participeront à un agrandissement de l'école Mark Bourque à Debussy, Haïti, qui a été construite par des pompiers et policiers de Montréal en 2006. Conçue à l'origine pour 50 élèves, l'école a maintenant un effectif de 126 élèves. Un agrandissement de l'école aidera à améliorer les conditions d'apprentissage des élèves. Les élèves de Willingdon ont rencontré récemment l'un des pompiers qui participera au voyage-Pierre Luc Bielo. Ce dernier a rencontré les élèves et a passé en revue avec eux les mesures de sécurité en matière d'incendie, il a aussi parlé de la tâche d'un pompier et a même permis à quelques élèves de porter sa jacquette! Il a raconté des histoires au sujet d'enfants à Haïti et a demandé aux élèves de recueillir autant d'argent que possible pour aider les pompiers à construire l'agrandissement de l'école.

Dans l'espace d'une semaine, les tirelires ont été brisées, des biscuits ont été cuits et vendus, les élèves ont demandé des dons aux voisins et amis et un montant de 2 803 $ a été recueilli. Les pompiers avaient promis un déjeuner de pizza à la classe qui avait levé le plus de fonds mais ils ont été si impressionnés par la générosité de Willingdon que les deux meilleures classes ont partagé un déjeuner pizza avec les pompiers. Le personnel de Willingdon est ravi des réalisations de la communauté et extrêmement fier de ses élèves et de leur générosité. ▪

DIRECTOR GENERAL'S MESSAGE

It is important to vote in School Board Elections

ROBERT STOCKER

For the next school board elections, which take place on Sunday, November 2, 2014, there will be 10 electoral divisions (compared to the present 23) and the position of chairman will be chosen by universal suffrage. This will be for a three year term. The last school board elections took place in 2007, meaning that the present Council has served an unprecedented seven year mandate.

Every school board is administered by a Council composed of commissioners elected or appointed under the Act respecting School Elections. In addition to the 10 elected commissioners, the new Council will have the option of appointing three additional commissioners who will not have voting privileges. The idea here will be to determine if there is a need to recruit individuals with specific expertise which can be advantageous around the table. There will also be four non-voting parent commissioners (up from the present-day two).

Former Quebec Minister of Education, Leisure and Sports (MELS) Michelle Courchesne has warned that if voters fail to exercise their democratic duty to elect the people who run the school boards, they risk handing over the future of their schools to unelected civil servants unacquainted with their children's and communities' needs. Only 7.2 per cent of eligible voters cast a ballot in French school board elections in 2007. At the English boards that number stood at 16.7 per cent.

Quebec automatically places citizens on the French school voters list by default, once the youngest child in a household completes school or at the age of 18. It therefore goes without saying that most voters probably do not realize that if their child was no longer in the English public system the last seven years then they (and their kids who are of voting age) are not only on the French voters list, but unless they get this changed their school taxes will also go to the local French school board. Needless to say that those individuals without children in the English public school system are not on the list unless they were in fact registered to do so in 2007. You can call 1 888 353-2846 to find out. Have your medicare care card handy. We have a form to transfer your name to the English list posted on our website. It must either be mailed or brought to the EMSB Administration Building in person as an original signature is required.

I think members of the English community at large saw one of the values of having an "English" Montreal School Board when our Council stepped up and spoke out against the former PQ government's proposed Charter of Values. We were leaders in this regard and represented our community at hearings in Quebec City. So please think about that on voting day.

The exact territory of each ward can be viewed at www.emsb.qc.ca. A notice to readers: the use of a roadway or a railway implies the median line thereof, unless otherwise specified. The use of the back line of a roadway means that the boundary of the electoral ward extends along the back of the properties whose addresses have frontage on the roadway mentioned. Annual EMSB Volunteer Appreciation evening honours those who go "above and beyond"

by STUART NULMAN

Some 500 school volunteers and administrators, as well as senior management and commissioners, attended the 13th annual English Montreal School Board (EMSB) Volunteer Appreciation Evening last spring at the Renaissance Centre des Congrès et Banquets in Anjou. The event was held to markNational Volunteer Week, under the theme "Volunteers: Above and Beyond."

Time and space did not allow the EMSB to honour all of its nearly 1,500 volunteers in person. Therefore, those individuals who have volunteered for more than five years were in attendance. Volunteers with 15 or more years of service received a hand-painted miniature picture by Jason Goldsmith of Big Blue Hug as a special thank you gift. Several thousand copies of a commemorative program book were distributed to each school. La Capitale Financial Services was once again the title sponsor for this event.

The emcees for the evening were EMSB Communications and Marketing Specialist Michael Cohen and popular Montreal comedian Franco Taddeo. Mr. Taddeo, who is himself a former EMSB parent volunteer, entertained the guests with a 10-minute stand-up comedy set, in which he spoke about a variety of topics.

"Day after day, year after year, you show your caring and passion toward the schools where you serve by going that extra mile, by going above and beyond the call of duty," EMSB Director General Robert Stocker said in his opening remarks. "By doing that, you contribute greatly towards making our schools and centres so vibrant and successful. And for that, we want to show our gratitude with this unforgettable evening just for you. How do our volunteers heroically go above and beyond? Simply by taking on any task, fulfilling any role, filling any gap and do so many things that mean a lot. To our volunteers, no job is too large or too small for them to undertake, no matter how easy or challenging it is."

"Your commitment has propelled us to great heights in terms of student success. I encourage you to stay involved and to bring others along with you," added EMSB Chairman Angela Mancini. "I know that leaving your home on a cold January night to go to yet another meeting, or to leave your home to go and help at school is not always easy and I am sure there are moments when you have wondered why I am doing this. I have one answer – our children's future." Ms. Mancini also thanked the volunteers for their involvement in helping the board in their fight against the controversial Bill 60, the former PQ government's proposed Charter of Values.

Marc Garneau, the federal MP for Westmount-St. Henri, extended his greetings and warm wishes via pre-recorded video message. You can view it at http://vimeo.com/91308863. He recalled when he went above and beyond 30 years ago on the space shuttle as Canada's first astronaut, and told the volunteers that they have went above and beyond in their own way. "The countless hours of hard work that you have devoted to the schools of the EMSB, whether they be to help organize and stage a fundraiser, run a book fair, aid a teacher, or be a monitor on a school bus or a lunch room, your efforts have benefited both students and teachers tremendously," he said. "You are more than just volunteers; you are an essential part of what makes a school run so efficiently and successfully," he said.

This year's Volunteer of Distinction was Debbie Hanley from Roslyn Elementary School in Westmount. She began volunteering 35 years ago at Coronation School in Côte des Neiges, where her first son was a student at the time. She then continued volunteering at Options Alternative High School in Ville Émard. Twenty years ago, she started volunteering at Roslyn, while juggling a full time day job as the school's office secretary. During that time, she has involved herself in many of the school's activities, events and committees, such as coordinating Roslyn's annual Spaghetti Talent Show Night (where she also cooks the spaghetti sauce from scratch that is served prior to the talent show), cooking and serving the corn on the cob for the school's Welcome Back event every September, and serving on the school's Home and School Association for 15 years.

"Thirty-five years have passed so quickly," said Ms. Hanley. "I love my job and volunteering is the icing on the cake."

La Capital Financial Services, the event's title sponsor (www.lacapitale.com), offers a wide range of products and services – such as savings, investments and funds, individual

Hommage à nos bénévoles

La CSEM a tenu sa Soirée annuelle d'appréciation des bénévoles le 8 avril dernier à la salle de réception Le Renaissance de Ville d'Anjou. Le temps et l'espace n'ont pas permis à la CSEM d'honorer en personne tous ses quelques 1 500 bénévoles. Par conséquent, seules les personnes qui ont fait du bénévolat pendant plus de cinq ans, soit près de 500 personnes, ont assisté à la réception. Cependant, plusieurs milliers de copies du programme commémoratif seront distribuées dans chaque école. Les maîtres de cérémonie de la soirée ont été le spécialiste en communications et marketing de la CSEM, Michael Cohen, et l'humoriste montréalais Franco Taddeo. La Bénévole émérite de cette année est Debbie Hanley de l'école primaire Roslyn. Pour la sixième année consécutive, les Services financiers La Capitale (www.lacapitale.com) ont été les commanditaires principaux de l'évènement. ■

MARYMOUNT Web Series Premieres

A group of students are detained after school for detention – detention is over – the students leave the detention room – something is not right – something has gone terribly wrong with their world. They cannot leave the school – they are in Isolation. How do they survive with language differences, lack of food, emotional upheaval? Isolation, is a bilingual web series, filmed, performed and edited by the students of Marymount Academy International. Each of the episodes is approximately five minutes long. The students of teacher Lauriane Smolla studied with director, Patrice Laliberte. They worked on script creation, camera work, the intricacies of sound and other technicalities of film. They worked with him in French only. The goal was to encourage them to perfect their second language. The red carpet gala was a big success. You can see the series beginning with this video: www.vimeo.com/97830339.

LAURENHILL Video Launch

The Office of the Commissioner of Official Languages of Canada formally launched a new video at LaurenHill Academy. It was shown in the broadcasting class of teacher Louis Bilodeau, whose students were involved in the production process. LaurenHill's online radio station, the only one of its kind in Canada, is home to The Anglais-French show. It is hosted in both official languages by two 16-year-old students, one of them speaking only in English, the other only in French. The Office of the Commissioner of Official Languages produced a video of an appearance by Commissioner Graham Fraser in which he and the students talk about the benefits of learning both official languages, the place of English and French in Canada and Quebec, and other interesting matters. The video, which can now be seen at http://www.officiallanguages.gc.ca/en/resources/teachers_parents, will be made available to high schools across the country and can be used by students for classroom discussions during a history or language course.

New JFK Film Club Triumphs

Congratulations are in order for a group of students who were involved in creating the John F. Kennedy High School Film Club, in conjunction with Youth Fusion. After preparing, recording and editing the film, it was submitted to the Clipton 514 film competition. The latter is a project for the youth on the Island of Montreal carried out by Youth Fusion and is financially supported by the Ministry of Immigration and Cultural Communities. Over 450 students from 20 schools on the Island of Montreal, including the students at JFK, worked throughout the school year to make a short film of three minutes on the theme "Continuing the intercultural dialogue." JFK's submission was entitled "Location X" and was about professionals from different ethnic backgrounds who find themselves trapped in a mysterious place with no apparent way out. JFK won for Best Movie Poster. You can see the film at https://vimeo.com/95970202.

LESTER B. PEARSON HIGH SCHOOL: Gay-Straight Alliance Launched

In the spirit of fostering a safer school environment, Lester B. Pearson High School in Montreal North has formed a group called the Gay-Straight Alliance (GSA). The GSA is an inclusive group that welcomes students from all backgrounds, sexual orientations, and gender identities. This space allows students to feel valued, recognized, and accepted. The GSA provides a platform for students to have a voice and empowers them to effect change. Furthermore, the GSA also promotes diversity and awareness through education, support, social justice, and advocacy. The GSA committee is made up of 25 committed, passionate, and brave students who believe in equality and who want to be part of a movement. The school's guidance counsellor initiated and developed this project after noticing a need to reach out to the LGBTQ community. The GSA is officially the first of its kind at the EMSB!

FACE and Its Music

FACE (Fine Arts Core Education) is a unique, one-of-a-kind school in Quebec. Located for more than 30 years in the historic High School of Montreal building on University Street, steps away from McGill University, it is part of the Commission Scolaire de Montréal (CSDM). The EMSB operates an English stream at the primary and secondary levels. Once again this year there will be a variety of concerts to look forward to, including Winds, Strings, Blues and Jazz Bands, Harmony and Vocal. Log on to http://face-english.csdm.ca/school.

ROSEMOUNT HIGH Christmas Concert

Rosemount High School will hold its annual Christmas concert in December in front of the traditional full auditorium. Music teachers Debbie Best and Andrew Mangal will prepare their students for the evening, including the Secondary I Debutante Band, the senior stage band, and of course, the award-winning Symphonic Winds. In addition, over three days in December, the Symphonic Winds (all 40 plus student musicians), will go on their annual Holiday Concert tour of eight nearby elementary schools to spread holiday fun through their music.

LMAC and JPI Collaborate

International Baccalaureate (IB) students and staff members from John Paul I Junior High School and Laurier Macdonald High School in St. Léonard travelled to Griffintown and the Benedict Labre House for the homeless for a special joint environmental project. School representatives helped rebuild the community garden with the help of Méga Centre Montréal. To mark this special occasion, the Benedict Labre House also officially renamed the garden as the "John Paul I and Laurier Macdonald Commemorative School Garden." All of the vegetables and spices that will be planted have come from the fundraising efforts of the students of these schools. This project has been spearheaded by Spiritual Community Animator Vince Lacroce and LMAC teacher Giovanni Iammarrone.

Wall of Honour at VMC

Dedicated students at Vincent Massey Collegiate in Rosemount, along with their Spiritual Community Animator Rocco Speranza and art teacher Vincent Gagnon, completed a wall of honour and mural paying tribute to Canadian soldiers, peacekeepers and veterans. It is part of the school's way to mark Canada's first National Day of Honour that recognizes those who bravely fought and remembers the fallen during Canada's 12 year military mission in Afghanistan.

Ping Pong at JAMES LYNG

James Lyng High School in St. Henri's new ping pong tournament, launched by Vice-Principal Steve Manstavich, has left its mark in a big way. When it first started, no one was really sure how the students would respond. Within days, Mr. Manstavich recruited both staff and students to play in his month long tournament. Every day at recess, lunch and after school matches would take place and there were crowds of people cheering the players on. Students stayed extra hours to practice and perfect their craft. "It really helped bring our school community closer together because everyone was invested in the tournament whether because they were playing, because a teacher's student was playing or just because they wanted their friend to win. Everyone in the school was really involved," said Mikaella Goldsmith, CLC Coordinator. Joshua Casanova (pictured with Mr. Manstavich) won last year's event and looks forward to defending his title in 2015.
