The efforts of the approximately 50,000 Canadians who served with the Royal Canadian Air Force (RCAF) and Royal Air Force (RAF) in Bomber Command operations over occupied Europe was one of our country's most significant contributions during the Second World War.

Since its inception in 1924, the Royal Canadian Air Force (RCAF) has served Canadians in peace and war. It played a vital role in the Second World War, becoming the fourth-largest Allied air force, and reached its "golden age" in the late 1950s, with dozens of combat squadrons on the front lines of the Cold War.

Dedicated to the memory of Pilot Officer Fredrick A Scott" World War II memorial stained glass window (1949) by Charles William Kelsey is part of a three-light window in the transept area of the Chambit Presbyterian Church of Montreal, 5545 Snowdon.
